

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

Institute of Criminology

*Parental Incarceration and Child Development:
Cross-national comparative studies*

Dr Joseph Murray

Wellcome Trust Research Fellow and Senior Research Associate,
Cambridge Neuroscience, Department of Psychiatry

Institute of Criminology Public Seminar Series

Thursday 25th April 2013, 5.30pm

Seminar Room B3, Institute of Criminology,
Sidgwick Avenue, Cambridge, CB3 9DA

A drinks reception in the basement foyer will follow this seminar for attendees

Over 10 million people are held in prisons worldwide and about half of prisoners are parents. Children with incarcerated parents are exposed to multiple forms of stress and have considerable risk for committing crime themselves in adulthood. This seminar summarises findings from four large, longitudinal studies of the effects of parental incarceration on children in England, Sweden, the Netherlands and the United States. Cross-national differences suggest that some social and penal contexts might protect children from harmful effects of parental incarceration.

This seminar is free, and is open to all interested in attending, with no ticket required.
If you wish to be added to the seminar mailing list, please contact: Joanne Garner, on: jf225@cam.ac.uk
For full listing of IoC Seminars: <http://www.crim.cam.ac.uk/> For directions: <http://map.cam.ac.uk/>