

The David P. Farrington Memorial Symposium

Friday, 23 May 2025

Faculty of Law, University of Cambridge Sidgwick Site, Cambridge, CB3 9DZ

08:30-09:00 Coffee, pastries and registration

09:00-09:30 Welcome and introduction

Manuel Eisner, Director of the Institute of Criminology
Alice Farrington, David Farrington's daughter

09:30-10:45 Advancing the Scientific Bases for Criminology

Daniel Nagin, Carnegie Melon University
Lawrence Sherman, Institute of Criminology
Barbara Cooke, Keiser University
Darrick Jolliffe, Royal Holloway University London
Hugo Gomes, University of Porto

10:45-11:15 Coffee break

11:15-12:30 Pushing the Boundaries of Knowledge on Human Development and Crime

Terrie Moffitt, Duke University and Kings College London
Alex Piquero, University of Miami
Adrian Raine, University of Pennsylvania
Georgia Zara, University of Turin

12:30-13:30 Standing lunch

13:30-14:30 Generating Knowledge for Prevention and Intervention

Friedrich Loesel, University of Cambridge
Bryanna Hahn Fox, University of South Florida
Brandon Welsh, Northeastern University
Maria Ttofi, University of Cambridge

14:30-15:00 Break

15:00-16:00 Globalising Criminology

Joe Murray, University of Pelotas
Laura Bui, University of Manchester
Kofi Boakye, University of Leicester

16:00-17:00 Working with David Farrington: Ideas, mentoring, and collaboration

Alfred Blumstein, Carnegie Melon University
Henriette Bergstrom, University of Derby
Michael Tonry, University of Minnesota
Andreas Kapardis, University of Cyprus