and Visiting Fellow, Institute of Criminology, University of Cambridge

17th Annual Nigel Walker Lecture

Thursday 5th June 2014, 5.30pm

Seminar Room, Institute of Criminology,
Sidgwick Avenue, Cambridge, CB3 9DA

This lecture contends that understanding how criminals differ biologically to the rest of us is critical for crime control. What are the implications for society? And will this new knowledge change the future of criminology?

Adrian Raine is the Richard Perry University Professor in Criminology, Psychiatry, and Psychology at the University of Pennsylvania, and Visiting Fellow at the Institute of Criminology, University of Cambridge.
